SCHEDULE

An Act to prescribe under article 25(2) of the Constitution the remuneration and other entitlements of the Premier, Ministers, Members of the Niue Assembly and the Speaker

The Assembly enacts as follows –

- 1 Title
This is the Civil List Act 2016.
- 2 Commencement
This Act comes into force on the day after the date on which this Act becomes law in accordance with Article 34 of the Constitution.
- 3 Interpretation
In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires, –
“Acting Premier” means a Minister discharging the functions of Premier pursuant to article 9(1) or (2) of the Constitution;

"Member of the Niue Assembly," or "Member" means a person elected as a Member of the Niue Assembly under article 16 of the Constitution;

"Member assisting a Minister" means a Member of the Niue Assembly who has been appointed by the Premier to assist a Minister in the undertaking of the duties of the Minister;

"Minister" means a Member of the Niue Assembly who has been appointed as such under Article 5 of the Constitution, but does not include a temporary Minister;

"Premier" means a Member of the Niue Assembly elected under Article 4 of the Constitution but does not include an Acting Premier;

"Speaker" means the Speaker of the Niue Assembly elected under article

20 of the Constitution but does not include a Member of the Niue Assembly performing the functions of the Speaker under that article;

"temporary Minister" means a Member of the Niue Assembly appointed as a temporary Minister under article 8 of the Constitution.

4 Remuneration and allowances

There is payable to the Premier, Ministers, Members of the Niue Assembly and the Speaker the remuneration and allowances specified in the Schedule.

5 Appropriation

A remuneration or allowance payable under this Act is to be paid out of the Niue Government Account without further appropriation.

6 Payment of remuneration

- (1) A remuneration specified in Part 1 of the Schedule is payable by equal fortnightly instalments in arrears with a proportionate payment for any fraction of a fortnight served.
- (2) The rate of remuneration in Part 1 of the Schedule is deemed to be effective from 1st July, 2016.

7 Period for which the Premier's and Ministers' remuneration and allowances are payable

The remuneration and allowances of the Premier and each Minister of Cabinet shall commence on the day on which he/she is appointed under article 4 and 5 of the Niue Constitution and end on the day that he/she vacates his/her office under Article 3, or Article 7 of the Niue Constitution.

8 Period for which Members' remuneration and allowances are payable

- (1) The remuneration and allowance of each Member shall commence on the day the Chief Electoral Officer publicly declares him/her to be elected and shall cease on the day a new Member has been declared by the Chief Electoral Officer or unless his/her seat becomes vacant by death or otherwise as the case may be.

- (2) Where a Member is returned unopposed his/her period of remuneration shall recommence on the date that the Chief Electoral Officer declares him/her to be elected and shall cease on the date a new Member has been declared by the Chief Electoral Officer or unless his/her seat becomes vacant by death or otherwise as the case may be.

9 Advance of remuneration

- (1) If a person who is entitled to be paid a remuneration under Part 1 of the Schedule is due to be absent from Niue he or she may be paid that remuneration in advance -
 - (a) If the person is due to be absent from Niue on official business connected with his or her position in the Assembly, for such part of the absence as the person is due to spend on that official business; or
 - (b) In any other case, for the period of his or her absence from Niue up to a maximum period of 4 weeks from his or her departure from Niue.

10 Advance of overseas travel allowance

- (1) An overseas travel allowance payable under Part 2 of the Schedule may be paid in advance of the travel.
- (2) If on the return of a person to whom an overseas travel allowance has been paid in advance it is found that the allowance was paid in respect of too few days allowance an adjustment in respect of the additional days is to be paid to the person.
- (3) If on the return of a person to whom an overseas travel allowance has been paid in advance it is found that the allowance was paid in respect of too many days, the exceeded allowance paid in respect of the additional days is to be refunded by the person to whom it was paid within 7 days of his or her return to Niue.
- (4) Any overseas travel allowance not repaid by a person under subsection (3) may be deducted from any other money payable to that person under this Act.

11 Allowances to be treated as taxable income

An allowance referred to in Part 2 of the Schedule except for the Clothing Allowance, Overseas Travel Allowance, Premier's Entertainment and Residence Allowance, is to be treated as taxable income for income tax purposes.

CIVIL LIST ACT 2016

12 Members assisting a Minister

- (1) The Premier may, as the Premier sees fit, at any time appoint a Member to assist a Minister.
- (2) No more than three Members may at any time hold appointment under subsection (1).
- (3) Every appointment of a Member under subsection (1) is effective from the date of notification of the appointment, and ends on the date of notification of termination, by the Premier in writing to the Financial Secretary.
- (4) Public notice shall be given of every appointment and termination of appointment under this section.

13 Effectiveness of Remuneration and Allowances

Notwithstanding section 7, the remuneration and allowances in clause 3 shall be deemed to be effective from 1st July, 2016.

14 Repeal

The Civil List Act 2009 and subsequent amendments are repealed.
